

State Historical Museum of Iowa Commemorates 20th Anniversary of 9/11

The State Historical Museum of Iowa is marking the 20th anniversary of 9/11 with a new display that commemorates those who died during the attacks and honors Iowa City firefighter Glenn Pauley, who assisted in the rescue and recovery operation in New York.

Pauley, who had befriended members of Rescue Company 4 of Queens in 1999, felt compelled to help them after the attacks. Several articles of clothing he wore during the rescue and recovery are on display in the "Iowa's People & Places" exhibition, which opened earlier this year to commemorate the 175th anniversary of Iowa's statehood. The exhibition will be open to the public 10-11 a.m. on Saturday. The museum's regular hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday-Friday.

Bell-Ringing Ceremony

In addition, the State Historical Society of Iowa will honor the 9/11 first responders and commemorate its victims with a bell-ringing ceremony at 8:45 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 11, at the Liberty Bell located east of the State Capitol.

The bell will toll first at 7:46 a.m. to mark the time of the attack on the World Trade Center's North Tower in New York City, and then later to mark the attacks on the South Tower and the Pentagon, as well as the crash of Flight 93 in Pennsylvania.

The public ceremony will include music by the MacKenzie Highlanders, central Iowa's premier pipe and drum band, and conclude with remarks from State Curator Leo Landis and other officials at about 9:30 a.m.

National History Day in Iowa

It's September, which means thousands of students, educators and parents are gearing up for the National History Day in Iowa contest, guided by a new theme, "Debate & Diplomacy in History: Success, Failures and Consequences."

National History Day is a year-long academic program that challenges students to research, develop and present papers, exhibits, documentaries, websites and performances about historical topics related to an annual theme. They compete at district and state contests, with winners advancing to the national contest to compete against thousands of students from around the world. National winners receive cash prizes and scholarships.

Iowa educators interested in starting an NHD program at their schools should contact Vania Boland at vania.boland@iowa.gov for more information.

Below the banner is a horizontal strip containing four small images: two people looking at a tablet, a group filming in a cemetery, a newspaper clipping titled "IOWA STATE BYSTANDER", and a group of children. Below this strip, the word "ART" is in blue, "FILM" is in purple, and "HISTORY" is in gold.

Celebrate Moments & Culture

A new collection of online resources is now available as part of the Iowa Department of Cultural Affairs' ongoing Days of Learning initiative, which connects educators, students, parents and lifelong learners to a showcase of Iowa's arts, history, humanities, film and culture.

The new multimedia collection, “Celebrate Moments & Cultures,“ features a mix of milestones, memorable stories and points of view from Iowa's past, specially curated by the department staff and other experts from cultural and humanities organizations across the state.

State Historical Markers Grants

Grants are available to help communities create and install their own historical markers to tell the stories of the people and places from Iowa's past. With support from the William G. Pomeroy Foundation, grants up to $2,000 are available for the manufacture and shipment of a 2-by-3-foot cast aluminum historical marker. The program is open to all time periods and geographic areas of the state, and priority will be given to markers that focus on historically underrepresented groups.
